Sport Fishermen Ready for Season

Canadian fishermen, bored to tears after telling each other all winter about the big ones that got away, will soon be able to make a fresh start. Spring brings the opening of fishing seasons throughout Canada, and indications from inquiries from sportsmen and information from guides pouring into the offices of A. O. Seymour, general tourist agent, Canadian Pacific Railway, Montreal, are that game fish are going to have a hard time of it.

More people are planning early vacations to take advantage of the fishing while it is at its best. Reports from Canadian Pacific Railway hotels in the Maritimes and Quebec, the Devil's Den and French River Bungalow Camps in Ontario, and bungalow camps and hotels in the Canadian Rockies, as well as favored fishing centres on Canadian Pacific lines indicate that sportsmen are on the move again. The number of Canadians travelling within Canada and of Americans visiting this country especially for fishing will run into many thousands. In a country the size of Canada, and with its variety of fish and conditions, opening seasons vary widely in the different provinces, a fact shown in fishing booklets obtainable from all Canadian Pacific Railway agents.

National Radio Program

A canvass of radio fans throughout the prairie provinces, if such a survey could be made reasonably representative of very diverse views, would undoubtedly reveal a mixed reception for the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation's plans, recently announced by L. W. Brockington, K.C., chairman of the board of governors of that institution, following its only meeting held outside of Ottawa to date.

Some of the plans announced at the close of the Regina sitting have undoubtedly caused disappointment. On the other hand some of them will meet with majority approval. There may be some who will see no good in anything that the Corporation proposes to do and it is quite possible there are a few who are ready to accept the announced program in toto and with every evidence of complete approval.

For the average "listener-in", who is not too discriminating, and that probably covers the majority, however, the objectives of the three-year program, which includes construction of four high-powered broadcasting stations in the period, two in the east, one on the prairies and one in the maritimes, as well as other improvements, have something of merit, though some phases of the plans are disappointing.

It is disappointing, for instance, to find that nothing is likely to be done towards the construction of a 50,000 watt station in the west for at least a couple of years, while Ontario and Quebec, whose people have access to a number of good, high-powered stations on both sides of the international boundary carrying excellent programs, are to be served immediately with two such stations, as quickly as they can be built.

In the western provinces there are a good many "blind spots" which are now either not reached at all by good programs or only spasmodically. Until the proposed new national high-powered western station is constructed they will have to continue to go without a service or have to be satisfied with a doubtful one.

It is a matter for congratulation that during the past year or two there has been a gradual but quite perceptible improvement in the quality of the programs broadcast on the national chain, whether due to the change in administration or for some other reason, but this improvement only serves to accentuate the disappointment in the delay in bringing these programs to the door of everyone on the prairies able to own a receiving set.

In view of the recent improvement in the programs there will also be approval for the announcement of the intention to extend the C.B.C. service from its present six hours a day to 12 and perhaps 16 hours a day, always provided, of course, that wave band agreements which may be made, will not confine the owner of the receiving set to one source for his entertainment and instruction.

As already stated, the quality of the programs broadcast over the national chain has materially improved, but that does not mean there is not room for further improvement. There is yet a substantial gap to be bridged before these programs can be classified with some of the best to be heard on the C.B.C. For this reason the announcement of the intention to arrange for more exchanges of programs will be generally welcomed in the Canadian west. For the same reason, the average western radio fan still desires not only to retain what selective right conflicting radio bands permit him, but is anxious that interference should be further reduced. This question of interference is still one of the greatest grievances of the listeners-in on the prairies.

Possibly when the C.B.C. can offer programs of its own to match the best that is produced on the other side of the international boundary, prairie owners of receiving sets will not be so much concerned with interference of reception from other stations. If expense which cannot be met out of revenue stands in the way, the Canadian Corporation might well consider the advisability of embarking in the commercial field, at least in an experimental way and with safeguards against abuse by advertising media. One of the proposals of the C.B.C. which should be received with approval on all hands is the announced intention to set up a school for radio announcers.

While there has been a marked improvement in announcing on both sides of the international boundary in the past two or three years, resulting in the disappearance of some of the worst crudities to which listeners were subjected, in the use—or should it be abuse?—of the king's English, pronunciation and diction, to say nothing of modulation of voice, there is in this field also scope for betterment. A school for announcers, properly conducted should do much to iron out some remaining objectionable features indulged in by some announcers on occasion.

By and large, the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, shows that it has some ideas, and that is something for which appreciation should be extended.

Has Had Many Adventures

Many Sensations Provided For World By Sir Herbert Wilkins

Sir Hubert Wilkins, who has applications from 4,000 people anxious to accompany him on a submarine journey to the North Pole, is probably the most adventurous living Australian.

For many years he has periodically feasted derangements for the world in feats of daring and endurance. Born at Mount Bryan East, South Australia, in 1888, at twenty he set out on a round-the-world voyage which took him to 26 countries. Already an enterprising camera-man, he was signed on by a Parisian firm as newsworthy photographer at $10,000 a year while still a minor. When he was 24 he became photographic correspondent with the Turkish army in the Balkan War of 1913-14.

His last taste of Polar exploration was in 1913, with Stefansson's Canadian Arctic expedition. Marooned in Arctic wastes, Wilkins did not learn of the Great War until 1915, and it was 1917 before he was able to get to France. In May, 1917, he obtained a commission with the Australian Flying Corps and later was made official photographer in the Australian historical section. While in France he was wounded nine times, twice mentioned in despatches, and awarded a military cross and bar. Since the war he has participated in a number of daring Arctic and Antarctic expeditions.

Train Pilots In Vancouver

Reported Men Chosen For New Trans-Canada Air Line Will Be Trained At Coast City

The Vancouver Daily Province in a newspaper story said it had learned pilots chosen for the new trans-Canada air line will be trained in Vancouver this summer.

The paper said that by fall it was believed there will be "sufficient trained personnel to operate the Leithridge-Winnipeg branch of the trans-Canada line."

Although Major D. R. MacLaren, appointed to the administrative staff of the new line, has made no official announcement, the paper said it was "understood" the line would take over the Vancouver-Seattle air mail route and two planes now owned by Canadian Airways, Ltd.

Losses Were Lighter

Freight Car Robbers Not As Successful Last Year

Raids by swooping bandits on U.S. passenger trains did not long survive their most eminent practitioner, Jesse James. Much different in technique are the raids still made on freight trains.

Freight car robbers work often on moving trains, choose sparsely settled country where a highway runs beside the tracks. Swinging off from box car roofs on rope ladders, they break the seals on the doors, climb in and toss out everything they can lay their hands on. Confederates in trucks pick up the loot.

The Association of American Railroads reported that claims resulting from freight car thefts in the U.S. and Canada totalled $688,792 in 1936, lowest for any year on record. Biggest losses were in coal and coke, stolen not only by organized gangs but by individuals who needed fuel.—Time.

Dominion And Provinces

People Of Different Sections Should Try To Pull Together

In approaching the large question of the relations of the Dominion and the Provinces, as the country is doing now, everything depends upon the adoption by Canadians of a realistic, practical-minded attitude and appreciation of the great benefit that will accrue from clearing away the confusion that has existed for years and deciding upon a division of responsibilities which is actually best suited to present conditions with the social services and other problems that have come along in recent years.

The existence of a Confederation presumes the desire of the people of the different sections to get along together as well as they can. The more they can pull together, the better for all. There has been a natural clinging to provincial jurisdictions and authority, but when a change in this respect is necessary, Canadians should be practical and wise enough to make it as far as this is required to replace an ill-balanced and rather confused government system, which retards the progress of the country, with a better-ordered and efficient system that will facilitate greater national progress.—Winnipeg Free Press.

Intelligence Not Impaired

Woman With Half Brain Has Superior Adult Mind

A 39-year-old Pittsburgh woman with only half a brain has learned in six months to do nearly everything she once could do when she had a whole brain.

With the half brain she rates an "intelligence quotient" of 115, on the Stanford-Binet scale. This is the mark of a superior adult mind and equals her once whole mind.

Her case, due to a recent operation in which the entire right brain hemisphere was removed, was reported to the American Psychiatric Association by Dr. Stuart N. Rowe of Pittsburgh.

She does not readily recall events since the operation but she remembers perfectly telephone numbers and addresses she knew before.

Usually Come High

Whatever The Outcome Strikes Are Very Costly Things

An observer estimates that the automobile strikes in Michigan cost a total of $477,000,000. Of this amount $267,000,000 represented automobiles scheduled for construction.

$45,000,000 in wages lost by workers; industries supplying glass, gears, valves and other equipment lost $137,000,000. Then there was the direct levy upon the State of Michigan and the various communities amounting to $1,629,000 in extra relief costs, National Guard maintenance and lost sales taxes. Merchants and storekeepers, it is estimated, lost around $18,800,000 in sales. Regardless of the cause or the outcome, strikes are costly undertakings.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Ready to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, you feel tired, it just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You get constipated. Harmful poisons go into the body, and you feel sour, sick and the world looks black.

A more lively movement doesn't always get on the liver as well. It takes these good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." Bile makes and greases the bile flow freely. They do the work of nature's bile without any caloric or mercury. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name! Stubbornly refuse anything else. Size.

Sees Famine In Future

Scientists Warn That United States Must Adopt Soil Fertility Measures

Scientists on a work's progress administration soil inventory project concluded that agriculture in the United States must "die of its own neglect" within 200 years and "the population, following a decline in soil fertility measures are instituted."

The project, which State WPA Administrator William H. J. Ely said he believed was the first of its kind in the world, is directed by Dr. Jacob C. Lipman, chief of the division of soils and crops at the New Jersey agricultural experiment station at New Brunswick.

Using soil samples from 48 states to determine chemical resources, the WPA workers calculated that nitrogen, vital to plant life, will be exhausted from the soil within 224 years, sulphur will have disappeared by 2052, and "the eventual result will be a China-like famine in the richest country in the world."

"The soil nutrient losses were blamed on erosion, leaching (the action of water seeping through the soil), and the rapid oxidation of organic matter in the soil."

Not Hard To Do

Writing An Advertisement Does Not Require Any Great Talent

The remark is frequently made by merchants that "they believe in advertising, but they do not know just how to write an effective ad. To which the reply is simple, that it does not take any particular skill to write a good selling piece. Of course, clever writers can do some-what better than others, but in the main what the public wants is information about goods, not smart wit and selling stuff."

If a merchant will simply tell the facts which in his opinion make certain goods, services and give the prices of the goods, those simple things are enough to constitute a good advertisement. They interest the public, which is always looking for values. The description of any bargain is as interesting as any news in the newspapers.—Sam's Canadian Observer.

Railroader-Actor

Roy Emerson (above), English actor who played Moody, the railway contractor, in the Gaumont British epic of Canadian Pacific Railway construction through the Rockies, "Silent Barriers", found himself right at home in the part when he went to the C. P. R. mountain division on location. The division was by no means new to Emerson who with his brother Percy served the railway there in 1912. Roy, the actor, as a fireman on "pusher" engines, and Percy as a round-house hostler at Revelstoke where much of the film's local color was filmed. Roy Emerson was a popular figure during the filming of the Canadian railway epic among the railroaders, many of whom were former associates.

Out of Order

OKOTOX—(Special)—Children often have odd but effective ways of expressing themselves. A Southern Alberta teacher reports the following took place in her school last week.

After a discussion on the value of milk as a building food, she urged one little girl whom she had just weighed to try to drink more milk.

"We have no milk," said the little girl.

"But you live on a farm," said the teacher. "Surely you have a cow, have you not?"

"Oh, yes," replied the child quickly, "but it doesn't work."

LONDON, May 31st (C. P. Cable)—G. F. Powell, a colleague of Major C. H. Douglas who is going to Alberta to report on the situation in the province in regard to Social Credit, sailed on Saturday in the liner Anrania for Montreal.

He was accompanied by G. L. MacLachlan, emissary of the Alberta government, who has been in touch with Major Douglas, founder of the social credit movement.

Negotiations, it was learned today, are continuing for the selection of a colleague for Powell in his Alberta mission. He will be chosen within two days, it is expected, and likely will be a chartered accountant.

Powell is regarded as one of the outstanding authorities on social credit and has written extensively on the subject.

Prairie Rehabilitation Will Be Lengthy Problem, John Vallance Declares

May Become Regular Department Of Government At Convention

Rehabilitation of Prairie farm lands was not a matter of five, ten or even twenty years; it was more likely to be a continuous one, eventually becoming a department of government, John Vallance, senior rehabilitation officer, told the Western Stock Growers' Association convention Friday morning.

One tenth of Canada's population, one fifth of Canada's arable land, and one quarter of Canada's cultivated land came under the scope of the Prairie Farm Rehabilitation Act, Mr. Vallance pointed out. It was a great National problem and must be tackled by the national government. Reclamation and water development were its chief activities.

Already, the speaker said, benefits of the program were beginning to show themselves. Strip farming, regrassing, the
